Media clips included in this report were generated from activities undertaken or sponsored by Americans for Tax Fairness. A media clip is included that either in whole or in large part was generated by ATF or by allies that ATF provided financial or in-kind support to. Included are news stories, op-eds, editorials, opinion columns, blog posts and letters to the editor (LTEs). Editorials and columns are included when ATF is reasonably confident that it has directly influenced the media outlets or authors through editorial board memos and direct outreach.

Note: Most editorials are not included in these clips; they are provided in a separate document.

Other98 Blog: The next time someone tells you the corporate tax rate is too high, just show them Big Pharma.

By Will Rice, Americans for Tax Fairness April 29, 2018

Big pharmaceutical companies are about to get a lot richer thanks to the Trump-GOP tax scam that Republicans rammed through Congress in December. But they don't plan to share any of those newfound riches with their sick and often desperate customers by lowering exorbitant drug prices.

They're also sharing almost nothing with their employees, despite their constant claims that corporate tax cuts trickle down to workers.

AT&T isn't the only carrier under fire on the issue. According to a new website launched by Americans for Tax Fairness, Verizon is estimated to be getting a $2.4 billion tax cut in 2018, which the group said is far larger than the $380 million in one-time bonuses the company has promised to pay its workers. The group also said Verizon has fired 300 workers since the passage of the tax law.

The Progressive: Five Things Trump and Ryan Didn't Tell You About Their Tax Plan

by Roger Bybee April 25, 2018

Only a Few Benefit: Despite promises that a corporate tax cut would trickle down to worker's pocket books, a mere 4.3 percent of U.S. workers will be receiving a one-time bonus or wage increase this year, Americans for Tax Fairness reported.

Corporations "Invest" in Themselves: The corporate tax cuts have not ignited any vigorous uptick in job-creating investment, but have encouraged corporations to buy back more of their own stock. This has allowed them to raise their stock prices and boost the earnings of the top executives and rich investors. Corporations are devoting thirty-six times as much on stock buybacks than to one-time bonuses and wage increases for workers, the Americans for Tax Fairness found.

The groups contend that the tax plan changes will add $1.9 trillion to the deficit and force cuts to the Affordable Care Act, Medicaid, Medicare, education and other public safety net programs.

Think Progress: Here's what the GOP tax bill won't do for middle class families

by Rebekah Entralgo April 17, 2018

New data from Americans for Tax Fairness confirmed corporations aren't spending their tax cut savings on higher wages for their workers. Corporations have spent a total of roughly $238,244,348,330 on stock buybacks since December 20, 2017 when the tax bill passed. Middle class Americans won't see a penny of that, unless they own stock. The wealthiest 10 percent of American households own 84 percent of all shares, while the top 1 percent own 40 percent. Roughly one-half of American households don't own stock at all.

Newsweek: Trump's Tax Cuts Didn't Benefit American Workers, Just Made Rich Companies Richer

by Nicole Goodkind April 10, 2018

But a new analysis of all Fortune 500 companies found only 4.3 percent of workers will receive a one-time bonus or wage increase tied to the business tax cuts, while businesses received nine times more in cuts than what they passed on to their workers, according to Americans for Tax Fairness, a political advocacy group devoted to tax reform. The analysis also found that companies spent 37 times as much on stock buybacks than they did on bonuses and increased wages for workers.

"There are too many disingenuous claims that the Trump and Republican tax cuts for corporations will trickle down to the middle class," said Frank Clemente, executive director of Americans for Tax Fairness. "President Trump and Republicans gave huge tax cuts to big drug companies, big oil and other corporations, but corporations are giving back little—if anything—to working families," said Clemente. "In fact, this [analysis shows] that 433 corporations out of the Fortune 500 have announced no plans to share their tax cuts with employees."

The Hill: Liberal group launches database to track corporations' response to tax law

by Naomi Jagoda April 9, 2018

The website from Americans for Tax Fairness, called "Trump Tax Cut Truths," contains searchable data about the size of corporations' tax cuts as well as information about bonuses, wage increases, job cuts, new investments and stock buybacks companies have planned following the law's enactment. The database contains information about more than 800 companies. Americans for Tax Fairness Executive Director Frank Clemente said they launched the website to hold corporations accountable. "The results are as we warned," Clemente said, arguing companies and their executives are seeing massive tax cuts "but they are not sharing the wealth."

Truth-out: Op-Ed: Let's Call the GOP Tax Bill What It Is: the "Tax Cuts for Shareholders Act"

by Lenore Palladino February 23, 2018

Several analyses of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act are starting to document the scale of buybacks versus pay increases as a result of the tax bill. Bill Lazonick and Rick Wartzman found that corporations are spending roughly 30 times what they'll spend on workers on stock buybacks. And Americans for Tax Fairness calculated that just 20 corporations have announced approximately $100 billion in new stock buybacks since the passage of the Senate bill in early December (and this was before the Cisco announcement). Using data from the pro-tax cut Americans for Tax Reform, they found that only 3.4 percent of Fortune 500 companies have announced a wage increase tied to the tax bill.

The Nation: A Wave of Corporate Propaganda Is Boosting Trump's Tax Cuts

Exxon Mobil CEO Darren Woods penned a blog post crediting the tax bill for playing a major role in the company's plans to invest $50 billion in the United States over the next five years. This generated a slew of headlines along the lines of the one that appeared in Reuters: "Exxon plans major U.S. investments due to tax reform: CEO." But according to an analysis of the company's financial statements by Americans for Tax Fairness, that's actually $2.7 billion less than the company invested in the United States between 2012 and 2016. And Bloomberg reports that the company's investments dipped in the last couple of years after oil prices crashed, and the capital-investment plan represents nothing more than "a return to the oil giant's spending habits before crude suffered its worst price rout in a generation." (The company's "fourth-quarter profit nearly quintupled after President Trump's tax cuts gave the oil giant a big lift," according to USA Today.)

The Hill: Op-Ed: Big Tech deserves no gratitude for dodging its US taxes

by Frank Clemente February 7, 2018

Apple apparently expects an outpouring of national gratitude for avoiding $40 billion in U.S. taxes. President Trump and his fellow Republicans are happy to oblige, since handing huge tax cuts to wealthy corporations is one of the principal purposes of their new tax law. But the rest of us can be excused for withholding our applause.

The tech giant recently announced it was paying $38 billion in repatriated U.S. taxes on the $252 billion in accumulated cash and "cash like" assets it has stashed offshore. That may sound like a lot of money, but it only represents a 15.5 percent tax rate —a lower rate than many working families pay on their income.

By Bret Thorn December 20, 2017

However, advocacy group Americans for Tax Fairness, which advocates for higher taxes on the wealthy and large corporations, called the act a "monstrosity."

"It's a money grab by the richest 1 percent and the wealthiest corporations, period," executive director Frank Clemente said in a statement, arguing that the tax cut would be paid for by raising taxes on working families "and raiding Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, and other critical services they cherish and depend on."

By Joseph D. Lyons December 20, 2017 The GOP have suggested that the bill is for the middle class, but TJ Helmstetter, Americans For Tax Fairness's communications director, disagreed. "When all is said and done, over 80% of the tax cuts will wind up in the pockets of the top 1%. Meanwhile, all of this will be paid for by the middle class and families who are struggling to get by," he told The Guardian. Helmstetter called the bill a "money grab by the ultra wealthy," not tax reform.

By Joan McCarter December 8, 2017

Mother Jones spoke with Americans for Tax Fairness, an advocacy group focused on progressive tax reform, about how these changes to the estate tax will benefit the ultrawealthy, specifically the top 15 richest Americans, as ranked and reported by Forbes. If the exemptions are doubled, each estate would save $4.4 million for a couple, or $2.2 million for a single person. And if the tax is repealed, that's where things get interesting: According to numbers crunched by Americans for Tax Fairness, in that scenario, the people who inherit money from this tiny group of people could potentially save more than a whopping $300 billion combined.

Mic: In Maine, Susan Collins' "yes" vote on tax plan brings devastation

By Will Drabold December 2, 2017

Sen. John McCain (R-Ariz.) famously delivered a thumbs-down early on a July morning to kill legislation to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act. But it was Sen. Susan Collins (R-Maine) whose opposition had long made it difficult to kill the health care law known as Obamacare.

Collins was given credit, even by her opponents, for meeting with constituents to hear their concerns about repealing the ACA. She consistently said she was worried about the number of Americans who would lose health insurance coverage.

The elimination of the Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT) would have saved Trump $30 million in 2005, according to analysis by Americans for Tax Fairness. The AMT was introduced nearly 50 years ago to keep wealthy Americans from avoiding income taxes using deductions and credits. The Tax Policy Center says the vast majority of taxpayers liable for the AMT make over $200,000 per year, while 0.3 percent have a yearly income of less than $100,000.

USA Today: What Donald Trump is not telling you about his tax overhaul plan: Some will pay more taxes

By Herb Jackson October 11, 2017

If Congress relies on a projected surge of economic growth to pay for tax cuts and that surge does not happen, Congress will look for places to cut spending when deficits start to grow in the future, said Frank Clemente, director of the liberal group Americans for Tax Fairness.

"The reality is, the way the Republicans structured their plans, people at $50,000 a year are going to get maybe a buck a day, not enough to by a cup of coffee," Clemente said. "Is it worth getting that extra money if ... it's going to jeopardize retirement security, health care, help to send their kids to college, the roads and bridges everybody agrees we need?"

Virtually all of the cuts – 99.6 percent of them – would go to the top 1 percent, according to Americans for Tax Fairness, cutting approximately $1.5 trillion from Medicaid while giving roughly $2 trillion in tax cuts to corporations. The House's "reform" plan would also cut nearly $500 billion from Medicare.

True Viral News: When Labor Day Meant Something

September 4, 2017

Shoppers this weekend could hardly be blamed for going to Walmart for the latest feather-light flatscreen television from China or Mexico-I'll admit I'm dazzled by the low prices and pixel counts too. Or, better, people could go to Costco, where workers make about twice the Walmart wage, and don't have to rely on federal benefits like food stamps and Medicaid (which, according to Americans for Tax Fairness, cost taxpayers $6.2 billion a year). In addition, Costco lets its workers unionize while Walmart instructs managers to report union activity or grumblings about wages to the company's "Labor Relations Hotline."

Down With Tyranny: Trump Tax Cuts For Multi-millionaires Will Be Paid For By Painful Cuts To Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, Education

August 31, 2017

The next day, Trump was in Springfield, Missouri promoting his tax plan-- with one lie after another-- at a closed-to-the-public event behind the closed doors of one of his rich campaign donors. Just before Trump spoke, Frank Clemente, executive director of Americans for Tax Fairness, warned the media to "Make no mistake; what Trump and Republican leaders in Congress are proposing is not tax reform. They simply want massive tax cuts for millionaires, billionaires, and big corporations, at the expense of everyone else. And those tax giveaways will be paid for by cuts to Social Security, healthcare, education and other programs that maintain living standards for working families. It's Trumpcare all over again, and it must be blocked."

The Washington Post: Column: Democrats are starting a fierce internal debate. Finally.

By Katrina Vanden Heuvel August 22, 2017

Of course, Trump and Republicans still set the national agenda, with tax cuts and infrastructure being two possibilities. A broad coalition of more than 400 groups called Americans for Tax Fairness champions progressive tax reform that helps make the rich and corporations pay their fair share — a stance that enjoys overwhelming public approval. Similarly, activists will challenge Trump's infrastructure plan, which appears to feature the worst forms of crony capitalism: "public private partnerships" that privatize highways and bridges and impose tolls on users; tax giveaways to companies stowing profits abroad.

By Bernie Becker & Toby Eckert August 8, 2017

TRICKLING, TRICKLING IN: Business groups have answered the Trump administration's call for feedback on tax regulations issued under former President Barack Obama, The Hill's Naomi Jagoda reports. The Treasury Department has asked for input on eight rules it finds too burdensome, including the Section 385 regulations on earnings stripping that had lots of companies up in arms in 2016. Outside groups had until Monday to comment on the rules, and among the groups pushing to repeal Section 385 are The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers. Groups on the left, meanwhile, are fighting to keep them. (Americans for Tax Fairness and Daily Kos are leading a campaign that's led to more than 63,000 comments calling for corporations to pay their fair share.)

The Nation: Op-ed: Democrats Need to Find Their Voice on Tax Reform

By Robert L. Borosage August 4, 2017

The public is already dubious about the argument that tax cuts to the rich and corporations will lead to jobs. A June survey by Hart Research for Americans for Tax Fairness (which is not yet a public document) showed that, by a remarkable five-to-one ratio, voters prefer that revenue raised from closing loopholes be used to pay for public investment in infrastructure, health care, and education (84 percent), not to lower corporate tax rates (which gained only 16 percent support). Six in 10 Americans would support taxing companies that stash profits abroad as a priority for reform.

By Lisa Fu July 13, 2017

A study by the Americans for Tax Fairness first reported that repealing the provision would have meant a large tax cut for President Trump. Trump, who earns an annual income between $38 million and $74 million, according to his public financial disclosure form filed with the U.S. Office of Government Ethics, easily falls into the category of individuals subject to the NIIT. The Americans for Tax Fairness applied the 3.8% tax to his estimated annual income to calculate that the president would receive a tax cut between $1.4 million and $2.8 million annually if the repeal managed to be approved by the Senate.

AlterNet: GOP Obamacare Repeal Would Kick 23 Million Off Health Insurance and Give Trillion-Dollar Tax Cut to People Who Don't Need It

By Steven Rosenfield May 25, 2017

"The CBO tells us that at least 23 million people will lose health coverage under the Trump-Republican health plan, including 14 million by next year—most due to $830 billion in Medicaid cuts. On top of that, the president's budget proposes cutting ANOTHER $600 billion dollars from Medicaid, and it slashes Social Security Disability Insurance," said Frank Clemente, executive director, Americans for Tax Fairness. "So between Trump's health care bill and his budget, Trump is breaking three core promises he made to his supporters over and over again: that he wouldn't cut Medicaid, that he wouldn't cut Social Security, and no one would lose their health insurance. Why? So that millionaires, billionaires and corporations can get giant tax cuts."

Truth-Out: Walmart's $237 Million Man: How Americans Subsidize Inequality

By Sam Pizzigati May 24, 2017

At Walmart, suggests Memphis retail worker union president Lonnie Sheppard, that magical "proven talent" just happens to include fleecing taxpayers. Walmart pays its workers so little, Sheppard notes, that huge numbers of them "are forced to rely on public assistance programs like food stamps, Medicaid, and subsidized housing."

In 2014, Americans for Tax Fairness has computed, providing that assistance cost American taxpayers $6.2 billion.

By Jason Easley May 17, 2017

Frank Clemente, Executive Director, Americans for Tax Fairness said in a statement provided to PoltiicusUSA, "Sooner or later, Republicans in Congress will need to put the nation's needs above a partisan agenda. With President Trump's ties to Russia now a full-blown national security scandal, it's never been more crucial for the public to see what President Trump is hiding in his taxes. We thank Congressman Jones for joining the effort to demand President Trump's taxes, and we hope more of his Republican colleagues will join him."

By Jonathan Curry and Luca Gattoni-Celli May 15, 2017

Americans for Tax Fairness Executive Director Frank Clemente told Tax Analysts in a statement that the letter "is about as transparent as Trump has been with his tax returns" and a "distraction" from the ways Trump may have structured his businesses. "Trump may well be using his cloaked Delaware businesses or other shadow businesses he may have registered in tax havens around the world to maintain extensive financial relationships with Russian oligarchs," Clemente said, insisting the letter does not "substitute for the public's right to see Trump's taxes."

There has never been a more important time to review Trump's tax returns. Congress has the power to demand to see Trump's taxes. It's time for Paul Ryan to bring the Presidential Tax Transparency Act (H.R. 305) to a vote immediately."

Alternet: The GOP's Latest Health Care Replacement Bill Is Even More Heartless Than First Thought

By Steven Rosenfield May 4, 2017

An economic analysis by Americans for Tax Fairness and Healthcare for America Now, both progressive coalitions, broke down how the Obamacare repeal bill was a massive giveaway to the wealthy, insurers and the drug industry at the expense of people who are now covered or will see premiums skyrocket.

"The GOP plan will deprive 24 million Americans of healthcare coverage and drive up the cost of coverage for millions more, especially older people and people in rural America. At the same time, it will create tax breaks worth about $600 billion that will mostly go to health insurance companies, prescription drug manufacturers and the wealthy," the summary said. It gave the following breakdown.

Investico: Weekly Market Review: Can Trump's tax plan stimulate the economy?

By Kristina Harper May 2, 2017

Keep in mind that this is just a brief outline of a tax plan. It was a set of bullet points on one page, suggesting that it is just a starting point for what is likely to be heavy negotiations. That makes sense given that a number of organizations — including Americans for Tax Fairness, the Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget, the Urban-Brookings Tax Policy Center, and the conservative Tax Foundation — all project that this tax plan could result in a loss of approximately $5 trillion to $6 trillion — or higher — in tax revenue over the next decade. This of course would come at a time when our national debt is high and many conservative politicians are focused on reducing the deficit.

While analysts estimate that the three-quarters of middle class families who take the standard deduction would realize modest tax savings, due to a doubling of the standard deduction to $12,000 for individuals and $24,000 for married couples, big corporations and the super-rich would reap by far the biggest windfalls. Actually the doubling of the standard deduction is a misnomer, as exemptions (currently at $4050 per person) would be eliminated under both the House and Senate bills.

Here's a staggering statistic: The 400 richest Americans, combined, have as much wealth as the bottom 64 percent of U.S. households — the equivalent of 204 million people. But under a new GOP tax proposal expected to come up in Congress this month, America's billionaires stand to see their wealth dramatically increase at the expense of the American middle class and crucial public services.

As a millionaire, I will personally benefit if Republicans pass the bill. But as an Arizonan and an American, I believe that the proposed tax plan is bad for our state and bad for our country.

Los Angeles Times: Rallies planned across California as activists pressure GOP House members on tax vote

By Christine Mai-Duc December 4, 2017

With another round of votes looming on the Republicans' tax overhaul bill, Democratic activists are planning a series of protests and rallies across the state to pressure GOP members to oppose it.

Rep. Ed Royce (R-Fullerton) is the target of at least a couple of those events, starting Monday when activists plan to dress up in Santa suits and hand out "lumps of coal" with notes attached saying Royce "has been naughty and endangers your family" with his previous tax vote.

KUNC: Congress Takes Aim At Tax Rules That Hit Hardest At Upper Middle Class

By Jim Zarroli (NPR) November 28, 2017

It wasn't supposed to be like that. When it first took effect in 1970, the AMT was intended to keep the superwealthy from dodging all taxes by taking too many deductions. Congress passed the AMT after the Treasury revealed that 155 high-income households had not paid a dime of federal income taxes.

"It's designed to make sure that wealthier people pay a reasonable level of tax," says Frank Clemente, executive director of Americans For Tax Fairness.

By Ryan Benk November 28, 2017

In Hemming Park Tuesday, in front of Republican Sen. Marco Rubio's Hogan Street office, Pastor Lee Harris of the Mt. Olive Primitive Baptist Church compared the GOP-led tax plan to some of the worst moral failings in U.S. history.

"At best this plan is a reincarnation of the trickle-down economics, which never worked. During the Reagan/Bush era it never worked. At worst, it's a kind of neo-slavery and works at the ethnic cleansing of people of color," he said. "Either way, it is something that people of color cannot afford."

Standing across the street from Rubio's Jacksonville office, they decried the Republican-drafted tax reform plan for benefiting the wealthy and harming lower-income Americans-particularly minorities, children, the elderly and working families-for raising the national deficit, and taking healthcare coverage from millions.

"[This plan] gives the richest 1 percent and corporations a huge tax cut ... it cuts the corporate tax rate from 35 percent to 20 and eliminates estate tax that really only benefits people like our president," said Joey McKinnon of Faith in Public Life, the multidenominational faith group that organized the press conference.

Steps away from Sen. Marco Rubio's Jacksonville office, a group of Jacksonville preachers thundered against the "immoral" tax bill in the U.S. Senate Tuesday. The rhetoric they used was trenchant. Rev. Linda D. Girouex called the plan "economic genocide." Elder Lee Harris of the of the African-American Ministers Leadership Conference expressed similar sentiments, saying the plan "will destroy certain people," including poor people and people of color. Calling the plan "neo-slavery" and saying it amounted to "ethnic cleansing of people of color," Harris likened it to "chattel slavery ... Jim Crow ... mass incarceration" in its impact, which would include cuts to Medicaid and food stamps, while removing the ability to deduct student loan interest payments. "Plantations grow bigger, and only the plantation owners reap the benefits," Harris said. Pastor Avery Garner described the "unholy contract" as an "attack on American families," before making a direct appeal to Sen. Rubio. "I have seen that you have your own doubts about this legislation," Garner said. "You can vote no."

Chicago Sun-Times: Letter to the Editor: Roskam's tax bill in Congress would hurt the middle class

U.S. Rep. Peter Roskam, R-III., is one of the men behind the House tax bill. As has been the case lately, he gets it wrong again. Roskam has refused to hold town halls for over a decade, and has shown he is completely out of touch with his constituents.

Peter, your constituents want our tax dollars to go toward improving society for all, not in the pockets of the ultra-wealthy and corporations.

Northwest Herald: Letter to the Editor: Tax Cuts and Jobs Act won't help me

By Robert Loren Teiken November 22, 2017

This legislation primarily benefits corporations and wealthy individuals while adding $1.5 trillion to our federal debt. Among those most adversely affected are many of us living in Illinois' 6th Congressional District. As a personal example, this bill will increase my income taxes by several thousand dollars because of the elimination of the state income tax deduction, limitations on the property tax deduction and elimination of personal exemptions. Our Congressman, Rep. Peter Roskam, who had an influential role in passage of the legislation, would have us believe differently. He contends that his constituents will see large tax cuts, tens of thousands of new jobs and increased incomes. These claims are based on questionable analysis prepared by the Koch funded Tax Foundation, which uses a supply side (i.e., trickle down) macroeconomic model that does not hold up in reality.

Many protesters said they came out to oppose Roskam's support of a tax plan they describe as regressive and harmful to the middle class.

The House of Representatives voted Thursday to pass the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act. Roskam, who serves as chairman of the Tax Policy Subcommittee on the Ways and Means Committee, has taken a leadership role in crafting the legislation.

.... "There's not one thing in that bill for the middle class," said [Reid] McCollum, [a leader of the Coalition for a Better Illinois 6th,] who specifically criticized the proposal to eliminate state and local tax deductions.

Protesters held signs that read "Roskam Fails to Represent" and "I Can Smell the Greed From Here." The protest coincided with the House of Representatives passing the controversial Roskam-sponsored Tax Cuts and Job Act.

It was also as close as many constituents could get to Roskam, who has infamously refused to hold in-person town hall meetings.

Still, members of a coalition that have been critical of Roskam see the reform measure as a detriment to people who are not wealthy.

Daily Herald: Letter to the Editor: Seniors at risk

By Jerry Freda October 26, 2017

Mr. Roskam has voted to cut funding for Medicare by $487 billion and cut Medicaid and other health care programs by $1.5 trillion over 10 years. To take funds from tens of thousands of seniors in his district and give that money away to provide huge tax cuts for his wealthy donors is not what the people of the 6th District sent him to Washington to do.

"We are here today to follow up on our August request to meet with Congressman Peter Roskam," Cameron said. "We are asking him to keep his word to seniors to protect their benefits and vote no on the Trump-Ryan budget proposal that would pay for tax cuts to the wealthiest 1 percent by drastically cutting Medicaid and Medicare."

.... "He committed to protecting these senior programs," Cameron said. "We were extremely disappointed when he broke his word and voted to repeal the Affordable Care Act in May, which would have resulted in over 20 million people, many of whom are seniors, losing coverage. But today, Congressman Roskam has a second chance to do the right thing and vote down this budget that cuts health care for seniors and gives tax cuts to the rich."

ATF estimated that "President Trump could get a personal tax cut of between $1.4 million and $2.8 million a year" if Republicans succeed in repealing the Net Investment Income Tax, a key Obamacare tax aimed at the rich.

"Now we know how much President Trump stands to benefit personally if Republicans eliminate just one tax on the wealthy under the Affordable Care Act," said AFT executive director Frank Clemente. "Instead of giving himself a tax cut worth up to $2.8 million, the president should keep his campaign promises not to cut Medicaid and Medicare."

By Kim Saylor October 13, 2017

President Trump announced his tax framework in Indiana. It will cut taxes for big corporations by $4.3 trillion over the next 10 years. Big companies already pay very little in taxes because of the corporate tax loopholes that allow them to hide their profits offshore to avoid paying the 35% corporate tax rate.

The rich have been getting richer and the poor getting poor for a long time in Indiana and across the country. This plan is more of the same: cutting Medicaid, Medicare, Social Security, public education, housing, transportation, and other services in order to fund tax breaks for the rich and corporations. That's not the kind of "reform" our state needs.

It wasn't exactly happy hour outside U.S. Sen. Charles Grassley's Waterloo office Tuesday afternoon.

About 20 protesters, organized by Black Hawk County Supervisor Chris Schwartz, an organizer for progressive activist group Americans for Democratic Action-lowa, showed up in bone-chilling wind outside the Waterloo Building where Grassley's office is located. They carried empty liquor bottles in protest of a comment Grassley made in a Des Moines Register interview about a pending tax bill. Grassley says the comment is being taken out of context.

Radiolowa: Senator Grassley says his quote on estate taxes was taken out of context

By Matt Kelley December 5, 2017

Some Iowans are upset about Senator Chuck Grassley's recent comment about how a person who doesn't save money may just be blowing it on "booze or women or movies."

Three groups are holding protests today outside Grassley's offices in Waterloo and Des Moines. Grassley, a Republican, says he was defending the GOP effort to scale back federal estate taxes as a way to help people who invest.

We Are Iowa (WOI and KCWI): Business owner details impact of tax reform

By Sarah Beckman November 3, 2017

As President Trump and dozens of Republicans get behind the tax reform bill dropped on Thursday, Iowa small business owners are reacting to the news. Some are not happy. Local 5 sat down with a small business owner who gave us a basic idea of how the proposed legislation will affect her and other small businesses in Iowa. She said they'll lose the ability to claim state and local taxes, known as the SALT tax, when they file their federal return. She said it could be enough to bottom out some small businesses to the point they close their doors.

Waterloo-Cedar Falls Courier: Main Street Alliance raises concerns about GOP budget

By Christina Crippes October 25, 2017

Young and others on the call took issue with the notion the budget resolution or tax reform would benefit small businesses. She said the proposed reduction to corporate tax rates would have no impact on her business.

Elected officials also noted a trickle-down impact of the spending cuts and tax cuts in the budget resolution.

"The budget cuts will decimate Iowa's budget," said state Rep. Marti Anderson, D-Des Moines. "Iowa's budget, which is already stretched too thin, will be forced to make up the difference by steeply, steeply cutting the quality of services on everything from education to health care to road maintenance and public safety."

The vast majority of Iowans will get very little from these tax cuts, because they are heavily slanted toward the rich and corporations. But nearly all Iowa families and small businesses (such as mine) will suffer from the resulting loss of public revenue: fewer potholes patched, fewer teachers hired, loss of health care, less retirement security.

By Jason W. Marion November 22, 2017

One of my co-workers used to remind me, "Never forget where you came from," and I will never forget his words. Folks like state Rep. Rocky Adkins preach and defend the preservation of "hope and opportunity."

Their words have plagued my mind with a question: What am I doing to preserve hope and opportunity for others seeking the opportunities I enjoyed.

Courier Journal (Louisville, KY): Op-ed: Kentucky homeowners should be concerned about tax reform proposals

By Michael Becker November 20, 2017

Tax reform proposals from both the House and Senate make sweeping changes to the tax benefits that homeowners have enjoyed for years. Unfortunately, if the current federal tax proposals stay as they are, this is likely to change. Here's why:

Roughly 1.2 million Kentucky residents own their own home, and over 381,000 (roughly 32 percent) claimed a deduction for mortgage interest (MID). If the federal plan doubles the standard deduction and removes most of the exemptions available, however, many fewer homeowners would itemize their taxes, essentially taking the MID and other off the table. But wait, there's more.

By Reverend Don Gillett November 18, 2017

When it comes to the Bible, there is an overarching value taught from cradle to grave that many Kentuckians could recite on the spot: love your neighbor as yourself. But there's a related value we often forget: taking care of the poor, the orphan, the widow. In today's terms, we are to care for the most vulnerable among us.

Our tithes and the various charities we give of our time and money are fine examples of living out this value. Most, if not all houses of worship across the commonwealth serve the poor in various ways. We show mercy by reaching out directly to people in need. But to live this value fully, we must also examine how we order ourselves as a community. We do justice by building a society that leaves no one behind to begin with.

By Ashley Best November 15, 2017

In order for the U.S. to stay competitive with other countries in math, science, engineering, technology and innovation we need to be producing quality Ph.D. and master's students. The current model supports a system in which those that are financially disadvantaged can still obtain a Ph.D. That is because Ph.D. students have their tuition waived and they receive a stipend.

At the University of Louisville, one semester tuition for a graduate student who is a resident of Kentucky is $6,123 or $12,743 for non-residents. This amount decreases to $1,417 once the student is done with classes and passes their qualifying exam, formally making them Ph.D. students. No taxes are paid on tuition, just on stipends. Stipend amounts vary by program but are around $25,000 a year.

Richmond Register: GUEST COLUMNIST: Corporations need fair taxes, not tax cuts

According to research by Americans for Tax Fairness, in 1952, the corporate share of federal tax revenue was 32 percent. By 2013, it had dropped to 10 percent.

Maine Beacon: Maine families pay more under final GOP tax bill

By Sarah Austin December 21, 2017

House and Senate Republicans expect to vote on their tax bill early this week after an agreement on its provisions was struck Friday. The deal lowers the top individual rate to 37 percent, lower than either House or Senate versions of the bill, and pegs a new flat corporate tax rate of 21 percent.

The deal, if passed by Congress and signed by President Trump, will ultimately increase taxes on the bottom 80 percent of Mainers, while delivering huge tax cuts to profitable corporations, wealthy foreign investors and the richest Americans.

The tax bill currently before Congress, if passed, will simply exacerbate that problem. As a person of faith, I believe that this is an affront to God. As an American, I believe that it will do profound damage to our country's social fabric. We are better than this, and we must regain our moral footing," said Rev. Nearly two hundred people chanted "bullshit" outside the Portland office of Senator Susan Collins Wednesday afternoon, one day after the Republican attempted to walk back claims that the widely unpopular GOP tax bill would pay for itself. It's actually projected to create at least a trillion dollar deficit, threatening bedrock government programs including Medicare and Social Security.

Collins has been under fire since voting for the widely unpopular bill this weekend and is now facing even more pushback after it appears she tried to justify her vote with a series of false statements.

"We can't wait," she continued, adding that the next vote could happen at any time given congressional Republicans' recent pace of backroom negotiation.

Maine Beacon: Sen. Collins jumped off a moral cliff with tax vote

By Grady Burns December 4, 2017

Last Friday, Maine Senator Susan Collins traded in what remained of her legacy to push forward a massive tax cut to corporations and America's wealthiest, based on a set of assurances from her Republican colleagues about the final outcome of the bill that she has little power to ultimately compel or enforce.

Becoming the decisive 51st senator to sign on to the Senate Republicans' tax bill before it passed in the early hours of Saturday morning, Collins placed her stamp of approval on a legislative process that was so outrageous that the final bill included more than half a trillion dollars of new cuts and spending that had undergone no committee hearings or public debate, and included provisions that were proposed with so little preparation that they were literally handwritten into the margins of the original draft of the legislation. To call this process a break from the norms of Senate process would be a dramatic understatement, and yet, Collins—who earlier this year voted against her party's attempts to repeal the Affordable Care Act partially on the grounds that the bill was being rammed through the Senate without any semblance of regular order—seemed genuinely unconcerned.

The tax bill snaking its way through the Senate is a disaster in the making for the state of Maine. It will benefit only the very richest Mainers, and will hurt most the poorest and least fortunate among us.

According to the Urban Institute's and Brookings Institution's nonpartisan Tax Policy Center, over the next decade, nearly 80 percent of the benefits will go to the top 1 percent of all households, and 40 percent to the top one-tenth of 1 percent. On Wednesday, protestors rallying in Portland, Lewiston and Bangor called on Collins to vote against the legislation following news that the self-described moderate may have struck a deal with President Donald Trump earlier this week—a bargain that experts note would do little to alleviate the "severe harm" caused by the bill in the form of increasing health care premiums and forcing deep cuts to programs like Medicare and Social Security.

Maine Beacon: After Trump meeting, Collins set to support tax breaks for wealthy, health care cuts

By Beacon Staff November 29, 2017

Following a meeting with President Donald Trump, Senator Susan Collins now says she's leaning toward supporting the tax restructuring and health care repeal bill backed by Trump and Republican leadership. Collins had previously raised concerns about damage the bill would do to the nation's health care system, the rushed legislative process and the $1.5 trillion increase in the deficit the tax breaks would cause, likely threatening programs like Medicaid, Medicare and Social Security.

A majority of the tax cuts in the bill would benefit only the top 1% of income earners, with 40% going to just the top .01%.

But speakers at the rally, including Rev. Jim Gertmenian of the Preble St. Faith Action Network, said it's clear who the bill would help – and it isn't working families. Gertmenian was joined by about two dozen members of the faith community, who opposed the tax cuts on moral grounds. Following the event, rally-goers delivered what they called a "moral declaration," signed by 138 faith leaders from across the state, to Sen. Collins' Portland office.

Bangor Daily News: Senate needs to slow down and fix its tax plan if they truly want to help middle class

Editorial Board November 27, 2017

Back from their Thanksgiving vacation, Senate Republicans are devoting much of their attention to a tax cut plan they hope to pass by the end of the year. Rather than a rushed package of changes that disproportionately benefits the wealthy and corporations, lawmakers should slow down and fully consider the best ways to help middle-class Americans and small businesses. Numerous analyses of the proposed Senate tax plan, which is not finalized, and a plan passed by House Republicans earlier this month have found that the plans' benefits flow mostly to rich Americans and large corporations and that many average-income Americans will pay higher taxes in a decade. One reason is that while corporate tax cuts are permanent in the legislation, tax changes for individuals and families will expire.

Portland Press Herald: Letter to the editor: Republicans' tax proposal penalizes higher education

By Sarah Payne November 27, 2017

It's hard to believe that anyone would want to make it harder for working people to access higher education. Yet the Republican tax plan could do just that.

I was born and raised in Cushing, Maine. After 10 years working in education, I am pursuing a doctorate in sociology at the University of California at Berkeley. After I finish, I hope to return to Maine to live and teach.

Sun Journal: Tax bill's fate may depend on Maine's Susan Collins

By Steve Collins November 27, 2017

Once again, U.S. Sen. Susan Collins may decide the fate of a major proposal touted by President Donald Trump — a tax overhaul.

The Maine Republican's vote is crucial to winning passage in the Senate of a tax bill that would slice the corporate rate and cut most household taxes during the next decade.

Portland Press Herald: Letter to the Editor: Tax reform bills in Congress fall short on child care access

By Anne Vaughan November 22, 2017

Senate tax reform measures make the child tax credit more generous than the House measures do, and they would expand the numbers of those eligible.

However, child care access must be expanded to include more workers. The emphasis that Ivanka Trump places on expansion is deplorably deficient. Her focus is on access to a tax credit by women who are already beneficiaries of large incomes, ignoring the needs of those hoping to work and enter the middle-class, wage-earning public.

Portland Press Herald: Column: Republican tax plan won't benefit many Mainers

By Cynthia Dill November 19, 2017

Remember Question 1 on Maine's November ballot, which wanted us to give one guy – Shawn Scott – the exclusive license to operate a York County casino so he could get richer? That's what the Republican tax overhaul plan coming out of Washington looks like – except instead of one guy getting all the money, it's 1 percent of the population.

I don't fault the logic of the super-rich people who want to get more and more money: The cost of lobbying and controlling members of Congress keeps going up, and a steady stream of big checks is the price of admission to good schools, glitzy parties and attendance at "conferences" and "summits" in places like Aspen and Colorado Springs.

Maine Beacon: Constituents protest Rep. Poliquin's vote for tax breaks for 'super rich'

By Beacon Staff November 17, 2017

"Bruce Poliquin is hurting Maine's small business owners in order to give himself and his rich friends a big tax break," said Gary Friedmann, co-owner of Bar Harbor Community Farm, standing outside Rep. Poliquin's Bangor office on Thursday. "Tax breaks for the super rich and multinational corporations are not what my business needs. We need affordable health care for our employees, not Wall Street windfalls."

Friedmann and other Second-District constituents delivered more than a thousand personal messages to Poliquin and to Sen. Susan Collins hours before the House vote on the Republican tax package, urging them to reject the legislation. Poliquin joined most of his GOP colleagues in voting for the measure, which passed 227 to 205, with 13 Republicans joining all House Democrats in opposition.

WGME (Portland, ME): MEA claims tax reform plans put Maine education jobs at risk

By WGME November 16, 2017

Both the House and Senate tax reform plans get rid of at least part of state and local tax deductions known as SALT, but Maine's largest teachers union says that move could put more than 1,000 education jobs and put public education at risk.

The Maine Education Association (MEA) claims getting rid of the state and local tax deduction will jeopardize public funding of education all to give mostly wealthy people and corporations huge tax breaks.

Kennebec Journal and Morning Sentinel: Our View: GOP tax plans offer more trickle-down economics

Editorial November 12, 2017

The Republican tax reform plan being railroaded through Congress might sound complicated, but it's really very simple.

They want to give about $5 trillion in tax cuts to the richest individuals, families and corporations, which they propose to offset by eliminating about $3 trillion in tax deductions that are currently enjoyed by both the wealthy and not-so-wealthy alike.

The Ellsworth American: Letter to the Editor: Poliquin out of touch with his constituents

By Max Treitler November 10, 2017

With all of the different attempts to repeal the ACA, combined with the administration's attempts to sabotage the health care market, and now the congressional budget plans, it can be hard to remember that all of this has really been about cutting taxes for the very wealthy. The funding cuts to the ACA that would have left 39,000 or so of us in CD2 without coverage actually were going to fund a huge tax cut that only went to people in the top income brackets, very few of whom live in Mr. Poliquin's district. This has come up again, because the budget proposal that the congressman has just voted for is looking to do the same thing.

NBC News Center Maine (Portland, ME): Collins, Ivanka Trump join forces for tax reform

By Don Carrigan November 10, 2017

According to staff members, Collins has developed an apparently friendly working relationship with President Trump's advisor, and daughter, Ivanka Trump. The two joined forces in Biddeford Friday for a tax forum with an invited audience of about 220 people. Collins' Chief of Staff, Steve Abbott, said the White House asked Collins to organize the event, which was held at Volk Packaging in Biddeford. Many in the audience were invited by Collins, while others were invited by the Maine GOP.

A group of York County Democrats protested outside the event, calling on Collins to not side with Trump. Democrats in Washington are criticizing the tax reform plans, saying they will raise taxes on middle-class households.

Maine Public Radio: Business Group Calls On Poliquin, Collins To Oppose Tax Cuts For Wealthy

By A.J. Higgins October 26, 2017

A business group aligned with the progressive Maine People's Alliance met at a Bangor restaurant Thursday to call upon U.S. Rep. Bruce Poliquin and U.S. Sen. Susan Collins, both Republicans, to reject any Republican efforts to slash Medicare and Medicaid and to cut taxes for the wealthy and large corporations.

"We're here today to tell Sen. Collins and Rep. Poliquin that Maine small-business owners don't need tax cuts for wealthy individuals and massive corporations from out of state," said Will Ikard, who heads the Maine Small Business Coalition. "What we need is investment in programs that strengthen lower- and middle-class families."

Beacon: Maine small business owners condemn Rep. Poliquin's budget vote

By Beacon Staff October 26, 2017

Small business owners in Maine's Second District held a press conference at Fork and Spoon restaurant in Bangor today to criticize Congressman Bruce Poliquin's repeated votes, including one this morning, in support of a Republican federal budget proposal that would cut Medicaid, Medicare and other programs in order to fund $1.5 trillion in tax breaks that primarily benefit the wealthiest individuals and corporations.

"Business owners want investments in our communities, not tax cuts for the top 1% and corporations based in other states," said Will Ikard, director of the Maine Small Business Coalition. "We know that consumer spending – not tax breaks for Wall Street – is what drives our local economies. Unfortunately, Representative Poliquin has again proven that he puts Wall Street ahead of the small businesses in his own district."

"These tax cuts for the wealthy and corporations will ultimately be paid for by cuts to Medicaid, Medicare, education, disability services, and other national priorities, while the expansion of the deficit will further threaten Social Security. The Republicans who voted to advance this plan owe their constituents an explanation."

The Frederick News-Post: Letter to the Editor: Health of children should be top priority

By Maria Dennis November 16, 2017

The House recently passed a bill that would pay for CHIP renewal, however, they have included underhanded cuts in other health care programs, including the ACA Prevention and Public Health Fund and by raising Medicare costs for some seniors, tearing down potentially lifesaving health coverage for older Americans. Yet, in the same week the Republicans also introduced a tax bill that would give over $1.5 trillion in tax breaks mainly to the rich and corporations, to be paid for with $1.5 trillion in cuts to Medicaid and Medicare. This is nothing but a corrupt political shell game; one that Rep. Andy Harris (R-1st) is playing, supporting a vote for this tax scheme for political points in D.C. while kids like Michael in his own state will lose so much.

The Daily Times (Delmarvanow.com): Letter to the Editor: Urge Andy Harris to reject GOP tax reform bill

By Michael Feldman November 16, 2017

Here we go again. Rep. Andy Harris turned his back on constituents when he voted in support of the federal budget resolution that would cut Medicare by $487 billion and $1 trillion from Medicaid in the next 10 years. This week, conservatives are taking the next step with the release of their new tax "reform" bill, which will give away trillions in tax breaks that overwhelmingly benefit the richest Americans and corporations — paid for by those proposed huge cuts to health care programs that seniors, kids, working families, veterans and people with disabilities depend on. We can't allow Andy Harris to cut our health care so he can give his big donors billions in tax breaks.

The Baltimore Sun: Letter to the Editor: Andy Harris is no fan of free speech

By Jared Schablein November 14, 2017

After a long wait, Rep. Andy Harris finally had another "town hall" from the one last year in Wye Mills ("Maryland Democrats call on Rep. Harris to denounce Roy Moore," Nov. 10). This time it was on the tax plan, and quickly we realized Mr. Harris was his spineless self. Representing a congressional district isn't about political parties, big donors or personal interests. It is about representing and doing what is best for the people who elected Mr. Harris, and if the congressman can't hold normal town halls, he should at least let his constituents address him directly. If he can't put the people of the district over party, he should not run for re-election in 2018.

Delmarva Public Radio: Harris Defends Tax Cut Package at Town Hall

By Don Rush November 13, 2017

[Congressman] Andy Harris defended the proposed tax cut package now on Capitol Hill saying that it would ensure a vast majority of the middle class would get tax relief. There was one protester dressed in a Monopoly costume who was forcibly removed after shouting that Harris' constituents would lose their Medicare and Medicaid for more tax cuts. Harris has been criticized this year for not holding more town halls with constituents.

The Daily Times (Delmarvanow.com): Andy Harris talks tax reform at Wi-Hi town hall

By Faith Tarpley November 12, 2017

Though there were anticipated differing opinions on Harris and his voting record, all sides sought clarity regarding the proposal tax proposal.

"I've been to previous meetings where he says, 'The deficit is our biggest problem, the deficit is our biggest problem,' but this adds a trillion and a half to the deficit, so it's kind of hypocritical and we'd like some answers," said Bob Tiernan, a spokesperson for Talbot Rising, which bills itself as "a nonpartisan progressive grassroots volunteer organization using the power of peaceful resistance, education and issue advocacy for economic, social, racial and environmental justice in Talbot County on Maryland's Eastern Shore."

The Star Democrat: Letter to the Editor: Rep. Harris Flip-flops on Deficit with Tax Bill

By Robert Tiernan November 7, 2017

Rep. Andy Harris (MD-01) is asking Maryland taxpayers to support a misguided corporate tax cut that will also boost the federal deficit by $1.5 trillion. And he wants to subsidize that giveaway by taking away the deduction for state and local income taxes, which 41 percent of people in his own First Congressional District itemize. And many of the supposed middle-class breaks will expire in a few years. We need some honest answers on Saturday.

The Talbot Spy: Letter to the Editor: Harris Flip-Flops on Deficit-Spending to Support Corporate Tax Giveaway

By Bob Tiernan November 4, 2017

For years, Harris has presented Powerpoint slides complaining about the deficit, but now Harris has sold out to corporate interests to explode the deficit. The nonpartisan Tax Policy Center, in fact, says many middle-class families will end up paying more taxes.

In this Republican plan, corporate taxes are slashed. The estate tax is whacked, benefiting only the very wealthy. The alternative minimum tax, designed to make sure the wealthy pay their fair share, is gone.

Rep. Harris owes the 700,000 people of the First District a full explanation instead of a 100-word statement.

The Daily Times (Delmarvanow.com): Op-ed: Andy Harris's health care votes will not soon be forgotten

By Wendi Harris October 2, 2017

That means rather than standing up for the people of Maryland, Harris voted to take health insurance from 277,000 of our families to fund big tax breaks for millionaires, billionaires, and insurance and drug companies. Repealing the ACA through efforts such as the cautiously departed Graham-Cassidy Bill, the 2018 federal budget or tax reform, including eliminating Medicaid and CHIP funding, would literally put lives at risk. So why would Harris vote for this bill? Simple: $541 billion in planned tax breaks for corporations and wealthy individuals who would benefit from cuts to healthcare. Those aren't the constituents who sent Harris to Washington. Still, it seems he was willing to put their greed ahead of our need.

Star Tribune: Letter to the Editor: Tax reform

By Frank Malley November 10, 2017

Tax reform is speeding to a vote in the House and in the Senate. The centerpiece is a substantial reduction in U.S. corporate tax so that corporate tax rates, which are now nominally as high as 35 percent, may sink to 20 percent, thereby — we are told — enabling U.S. corporations to be robustly competitive in an international market filled with countries that have low corporate taxes. When corporate taxes are hugely reduced, someone has to pick up the slack. The overall tax burden of individuals will inescapably increase under what Congress chooses to call reform.

Unfortunately, yesterday President Trump demonstrated unequivocally that this battle is far from over—he is directly attacking women, the middle class, and the poor in his effort to strip millions more from having necessary access to health care in order to provide tax breaks for the wealthy and powerful. The eliminations of CSR payments, the executive order on health association plans, and the new rule denying contraceptive coverage to millions of women, all make it clear: Trump doesn't care about the will of the people who have rejected the Republican agenda for health care over the past several months.

The Press of Atlantic City: Letter to the Editor: GOP tax cut wouldn't benefit my business

By Mike Price November 21, 2017

Don't believe the hype. The GOP's proposed "tax reform" would not help small business owners like me. The proposed corporate tax cuts would benefit hedge fund managers, Wall Street lawyers and real estate investors, and would be paid for by cutting public services that benefit my business and help my customers save money. Atlantic County can't afford these cuts. Transportation and telecommunications infrastructures need an upgrade. Many residents rely on programs like Medicaid for health care. We need to better train and educate the workforce to attract more companies to the area. My small business can only survive and thrive if government invests in the community. The GOP tax cuts would do just the opposite.

Burlington County Times: Letter to the Editor: GOP tax and budget plans can hurt small businesses

By Randy Ellis November 15, 2017

Their plans involve stripping trillions of dollars from Medicaid, Medicare and programs that help people afford housing, education and other essentials. All this to pay for tax cuts that won't help small business owners like me, because we don't generate enough profit to benefit from them. But those tax cuts will benefit hedge fund managers, Wall Street lawyers, multinational corporations — companies that really don't need another advantage over small business. If the GOP want to help small business owners, they need to come up with different tax and budget plans.

NJ.com: Ivanka Trump pitches Republican tax plan — and Christie supports it

By Matt Arco November 13, 2017

More than one in four New Jersey residents would face tax hikes under Republican legislation that sharply curtails the federal deduction for state and local taxes, according to a study released last week. That's a higher percentage than in all but two states. Invited guests at the fire house in Ocean County town wrote their questions down and MacArthur, R-3rd Dist., dished them to Trump and Mnuchin. But there were a few heated exchanges. Jason Ireland, of Brick, was denied entry and asked loudly why Democrats were blocked from attending the event. As the session was winding down, MariAnne Clemente, of Barnegat, interrupted Trump's closing remarks and demanded they take more questions from the audience. The event was held just before Gov.-elect Phil Murphy and other Democrats trashed the Republican tax plan as a new report was released maintaining that it would still hurt New Jersey taxpayers even with the new House provision for property tax deductions.

The Press of Atlantic City: Ivanka Trump, Mnuchin push for GOP tax package in Ocean County

November 13, 2017

During the 45-minute event, U.S. Rep. Tom MacArthur, R-3rd, Trump and Mnuchin discussed the proposed tax reform, but did not take questions from the pro-Republican crowd. Those attended were allowed to fill out questions card before the event; those questions were given to the trio. As the event wrapped up, Marianne Clemente questioned the panel on why questions weren't taken. The outburst drew the ire of many in the crowd. "This is an outrage that they had an invite only, when MacArthur doesn't have any town hall meetings," said Clemente, a resident of Barnegat. Before the event started, Jason Ireland, of Brick, came inside the venue and yelled "Why are not Democrats allowed?" Ireland was one of the 30 people gathered outside the fire hall to protest the tax reform plan. The protesters held signs voicing their disapproval of the plan, one read "GOP Tax Bills Bad for NJ", while another person held a sign stating: "Tom MacArthur vote no on tax bill." "They are trying to rush it through," said Carla Loundsbury, 68, of Waretown, as she held a "RIP Middle Class" mock head stone. "This is going to hurt the middle class and no one seems to care." Proposals in Congress pose problems for New Jersey, where property taxes are among the nation's highest.

By Stacey Barchenger and Michael Diamond November 13, 2017

Inside the drab building on Route 9 were Republican Gov. Chris Christie, presidential adviser and first daughter Ivanka Trump and Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin, who pushed tax reform. There were about 100 guests listening in the invite-only crowd. Outside, on a soggy patch of grass and in a drizzle, uninvited voices were hoping to be heard. "No tax cuts for the mega-rich." "Stop Mnuchin on our deductions." "No more pencils no more books, GOP are dirty crooks!" their signs said. About 35 people converged to protest. They urged reporters to ask who was invited, since they were not. Host Congressman Tom MacArthur, an Ocean County Republican, later told the press that guests were "people from around the county." Many protesters said the tax reform plans being pushed by President Donald Trump and Republicans in the House and Senate would benefit the rich, not the middle class.

Asbury Park Press: Ivanka Trump, Mnuchin pitch tax reform in Berkeley, avoid tough Q's on deductions

By Michael Diamond and Stacey Barchenger November 13, 2017

Since New Jersey has the nation's highest property taxes — on average more than $8,000 — its middle-class households are on shaky ground. About 100 people gathered Monday, a drizzly November morning, at the modest fire hall off Route 9 for an invitation-only event. It started with an introduction from Gov. Chris Christie and ended 38 minutes later with nary a question from MacArthur to Ivanka Trump or Mnuchin about the SALT deductions. About 35 people protested the event outside the fire hall. Among them was Jason Ireland, of Brick, who tried to push his way into the crowded fire hall, but was stalled by security at the door. And on Monday, the New Jersey Business and Industry Association, a business lobby group, said it too was opposed to the bills' elimination of state and local property tax deductions. It was left to MacArthur, whose ties to the first family include a lucrative fundraiser hosted by Donald Trump in June, to defend.

Patch (Toms River): Mnuchin, Ivanka Trump Press Family-Friendly Message on Tax Reform

By Karen Wall November 13, 2017

In front of a room of Republican supporters, Rep. Tom MacArthur, Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin and Ivanka Trump pressed a singular message on Monday morning: that the proposed tax reform will help New Jersey's families. It was a message that was warmly received by most inside the Bayville Fire Company firehouse on Monday morning. Outside the firehouse, however, more than three dozen protesters gathered on the front lawn of the firehouse in the rain to give a cold shoulder to not only the tax reform proposal but to MacArthur in particular. They held signs urging MacArthur to vote against the tax reform bill. One couple, Jason and Nancy Ireland from Brick, tried to get into the room before Mnuchin and Trump arrived but were rebuffed by MacArthur's staff. "Are there any Democrats in here?" Jason Ireland yelled two or three times, demanding the opportunity to get in and ask questions about the tax reform bills. The couple was forced to leave. The blinds were drawn and the doors locked to prevent anyone from going in or out of the door. MacArthur read a couple of questions from audience members, but there was no open opportunity to ask questions of Mnuchin or Trump on the tax reform bill.

Blue Jersey: Access Denied

November 13, 2017

There were about 20 people in line outside the Bayville Fire House waiting to get inside from out of the rain to listen to Congressman Tom MacArthur, joined by Treasury Secretary Steve Mnuchin and First Nepotistic Daughter Ivanka Trump, talking about tax policy. And there were at least four times as many people standing in the rain outside protesting the Trump/MacArthur reverse Robin Hood tax code.

The indoor event was by invitation only and no Democrats were allowed into the taxpayer-funded venue. But neither that nor the rain stopped activists from protesting the draconian changes being proposed by the Trump administration.

NJ.com: Trump says his tax plan would help small businesses. It may actually hurt them.

By Jonathan Salant October 12, 2017

"Those that blindly insist the estate tax hurts small businesses are full of hot air," said Sapna Mehta, legislative policy director for the Main Street Alliance Action Fund, the political arm of the small-business coalition. "The simple truth is that most small businesses aren't the owners or beneficiaries of multimillion-dollar estates."

Of the 5,400 estates large enough to face the estate tax in 2017, less than 1 percent, 50, are either small businesses or family farms, according to the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, a progressive research group based in Washington.

The loss of the deduction for state and local property taxes would have a much bigger impact on small businesses, said Chuck Marr, CBPP's director of federal tax policy.

NJ Spotlight: Trump Tax Policy Could Be Tough on Mom-and-Pop Shops, Main Street

By John Reitmeyer October 12, 2017

The Trump administration's plan to rewrite federal tax policy has faced widespread criticism in New Jersey, due to the proposed elimination of a key tax deduction that helps offset local property taxes. But now advocates for small-business owners are also questioning Trump's proposals, saying they could end up hurting many of the state's mom-and-pop stores. The proposal would seem to be a big win for the small-business owners, but the problem is most of them don't earn enough in income to take advantage of the new pass-through rate that's being proposed, said Sapna Mehta, legislative policy director for the Main Street Alliance, during a conference call yesterday.

Las Vegas Sun: Letter to the Editor: Wealthy win, health loses

By Brandon Nutton November 12, 2017

According to Americans for Tax Fairness, there will be over $1 trillion in cuts to programs like Medicaid and Medicare. The GOP is using the federal budget to take health care away from people who need and deserve it by proposing huge cuts to Medicaid and Medicare. Those trying to push this through will avoid really talking about how they will pay for those big tax breaks — hoping that they can move this bill so fast that no one back home will know what's going on. Please think of everyone before voting. Tax breaks for the rich and corporations cost money. That money needs to come from somewhere else in the budget. In this case, it's most likely to come from massive cuts to Medicaid and Medicare.

WSKG and WXXI: Residents Berate Rep. Tom Reed Over House Tax Bill At Town Hall

By Gaber Altieri November 22, 2017

Congressman Tom Reed returned to the Southern Tier this week and faced heat over his support of the big GOP tax bill that just passed the House of Representatives. The Republican's district includes Elmira, Corning and Ithaca. He was an architect of the bill. At a town hall at the American Legion in Horseheads, Reed was greeted with jeers. The building was packed with residents who disapprove of the Republican tax bill. They think it's good for the rich, at the expense of the poor and middle class. Some held signs that read "Tom Reed Voted to Increase My Property Taxes", a reference to a limit to the state and local tax or SALT deduction in the House tax bill. Two other regional Congress members voted for House tax bill. Neither Claudia Tenney nor John Katko have held similar town halls since.

That compares with a total U.S. workforce of 155.2 million, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The ATF analysis shows 126 companies have received $60.8 billion in total tax cuts, which it claims is nine times more than the $6.5 billion workers have received in bonuses and pay increases. Corporations, their data show, have spent 37 times more on stock buybacks than worker bonuses or raises since the law was enacted.

By Joshua Holland December 31, 2017

Obscuring one's investments is just one feature of a much larger scam. For corporate America, offshore tax havens aren't just a means of shifting the tax burden onto the rest of us—they actually serve as profit centers. In 2015, Americans for Tax Fairness estimated that American companies were holding $2.1 trillion in profits in various tax havens around the world, and under current law, they don't have to pay taxes on them until they "repatriate" those dollars. In theory, that means that all of those profits represent an interest-free, or at least very low-interest, loan from the federal government, which they can then invest as they'd like and pocket the returns. It's easy to make money with free money from Uncle Sam.

Tribune Chronicle: Local group criticizes GOP tax plan

By Raymond Smith November 22, 2017

An anti-tax reform group met Wednesday to talk about the many different ways the reform effort will be harsh on ----small businesses, families and people needing medical assistance. "The tax reform bill, as currently proposed, would hurt small businesses, push people to give up health insurance because they will no longer be eligible for federal government-approved assistance under the Affordable Care Act and it will encourage some businesses to send their work overseas," Marcia Dinkins, co-founder and director of Valley Voices United for Change said.

The group is concerned the bill will use profits from the repeal of the Affordable Care Act to pay for permanent tax cuts for large corporations. The Congressional Budget Office predicts the bill would result in 13 million more uninsured people and premium increases of up to 10 percent.

Statesman Journal: Letter to the Editor: New tax plan will hurt people who can least afford it, including small-business owners

By Lee Mercer November 17,2017

The GOP is not trumpeting another alarming truth about this bill – it eliminates several deductions that benefit middle and lower income taxpayers.

This means the burden increases on small businesses and people who can least afford it. While high-earners on Wall Street are enjoying their tax-break windfall, we on Main Street will see Medicaid, Medicare, and education cut by trillions because politicians claim a lack of funding. Small business owners and their customers will have less disposable income to spend, less security, and a bleaker future.

The Register-Guard: Letter to the Editor: Reject this heartless tax plan

By Jere C. Rosemeyer October 9, 2017

By a vote of 219 to 206 (with 18 Republicans voting against), the House passed a budget resolution that will bestow massive tax cuts on the rich by cutting social programs such as Medicare and Medicaid. It would expand the deficit, threatening Social Security. And, according to Americans for Tax Fairness, many working families would see a tax increase. The resolution also prohibits a filibuster in the Senate and allows for fast track passage.

The Register-Guard: Oregon millionaires would benefit from tax cuts under GOP repeal and replace of Affordable Care Act, critics stress

By Christian Wihtol July 8, 2017

Citing research by other entities, Americans for Tax Fairness said an estimated 2,760 Oregon millionaires would benefit from a cut on the federal tax on investments under the GOP plan. The average annual tax cut for these millionaires would be $34,584, the group said, citing an analysis by the Center For American Progress. The center is funded by labor groups, corporations and foundations.

Delco Times: Clergy to GOP reps: Vote no on tax bill

By Rick Kauffman December 18, 2017

Faith-based leaders were on a mission Monday to change the hearts and minds of a congressman ahead of the tax bill vote set to begin Tuesday. Their message: Vote no.

Clergy and members of Philadelphia Organized to Witness, Empower and Rebuild (POWER) traveled to the offices of U.S. Reps. Mike Fitzpatrick, R-8 of Levittown, Ryan Costello, R-6 of West Goshen and Pat Meehan, R-7 of Chadds Ford delivering a message to the GOP congressmen to vote against party lines.

While a group of five demonstrators led by clergy said prayers at the door of Costello's office, a raucous group of more than 100 protesters later that day met on the courthouse steps.

The Times (Beaver, PA): Health advocates: Tax bill could cut Medicare, impact other health care programs

By Kate Malongowski December 5, 2017

The tax bill passed by the U.S. House and Senate members could have tremendous impacts on health care, including marketplace users, Medicaid and Medicare recipients, health advocates said.

Several nonprofit leaders spoke about potential changes during a news teleconference organized by the Pennsylvania Health Access Network on Tuesday.

Bucks County Courier Times: State, local advocates say overhaul bill will tax health care

By Jenny Wagner December 5, 2017

As lawmakers convene a conference committee to reconcile the Senate and House versions of the tax overhaul, state and local advocates are voicing concerns about the impact the bill would have on health care.

In a conference call with reporters on Tuesday, Antoinette Kraus, executive director of the Pennsylvania Health Access Network, said the result would be "devastating" for families, women, older adults, people with mental health and substance use disorders, among others.

Daily Local News: Rep. Costello a 'yes' vote on tax bill

By Michael Rellahan November 16, 2017

Several groups led by Delco Indivisible, Havertown Area Community Action Network Indivisible, Indivisible Upper Darby, Indivisible Main Line South and POWER are planning a rally in front of Meehan's Springfield office today from 4:30-6 p.m.

Democrats have called the GOP plan to cut taxes an exercise in giving to the rich and taking away from middle income earners. An analysis released Monday by Congress' nonpartisan Joint Committee on Taxation found that the Senate overhaul bill would increase taxes for some 13.8 million moderate-income American households.

The Express-Times (LehighValleyLive.com): Monstrous or MAGA: Lehigh Valley views on tax cut plan

By Kurt Bresswein October 31, 2017

Frankenstein's monster, or at least Coopersburg resident Dan Miller wearing a Halloween mask, growled his disapproval Tuesday at one view of what the congressional tax cut plan would mean for America. Miller was among about 20 people gathered for a trick-or-treat-themed protest against the proposal, outside the South Whitehall Township office of U.S. Rep. Charlie Dent. "What we've got here is we expect tricks for us and treats for the wealthy," said Phila Back, dressed as the Joker from the "Batman" franchise. She organized the rally for the Pennsylvania Health Access Network, and it ended with delivering a set of demands on tax reform to Dent's staff. Outside Dent's office on Tuesday, protesters called for him to vote against "tax cuts for millionaires, billionaires and big corporations" and "cuts to Medicaid, Medicare, education, infrastructure and programs families depend on." They also called on him to reject the provision opening up to oil drilling the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

Daily Local News: Letter to the Editor: Thanks to Costello for hearing concerns

By Reverend Frank Pennington Wayne October 25, 2017

A few weeks ago I joined other members of POWER, a progressive nonpartisan inter-faith activist group comprised of concerned citizens from Philadelphia and the western suburbs, to engage in conversations with Rep. Ryan Costello in his District office in West Chester. The meeting was about our concerns for just health care for all. We were particularly concerned about the House budget which proposed paying for trillions in tax cuts to the super wealthy by cutting Medicaid and Medicare by nearly $1.5 trillion and repealing the ACA. I hope that his openness to hearing the real concerns and stories of his constituents who depend on the ACA, Medicaid and Medicare will allow him to maintain his position and defend our right to health care programs that serve our families and save lives.

By Holly Fletcher November 28, 2017

The proposed tax reform bills in Congress could negatively impact older Tennesseans as they file taxes, try to access physicians under Medicare or buy individual insurance, advocates for seniors say. The tax reform proposals — the House and Senate versions do different things — are concerning to the Council on Aging of Middle Tennessee because of the potential to spur more cuts to programs that serve seniors in an era characterized by a rapidly aging population, said Grace Sutherland Smith, executive director.

By Brandon Paykamian November 28, 2017

With Corker not expressing explicit support or opposition to this bill specifically, Susan Whitlow, an organizer from the Sullivan County Democratic Party, said protesters hoped to persuade the senator to oppose the legislation. She said the bill many are calling "tax reform" would be more accurately referred to as a tax cut for the wealthy. "This tax bill is immoral, and our senator said that he won't vote for any tax bill that raises the deficit by one penny. If he means that, he can't vote for this because it's going to raise it by a bunch," she said. "Temporarily, it will cut taxes for the middle class. Permanently, it will only cut taxes for the extremely wealthy and for wealthy corporations. In five years, the middle class and lower class will be paying more in taxes."

Johnson City Press (Johnson City, TN): Tennessee health care advocates oppose GOP tax bill

By Brandon Paykamian November 20, 2017

Representatives from more than 20 national health organizations criticized Congress' tax reform bill Friday as a vehicle for "ramming through massive health care cuts it (Congress) could not pass earlier this year" and urged Tennessee's delegation to oppose it.

The main criticism health care advocates and organizations across the state — including the American Cancer Society, American Heart Association and National Organization for Rare Disorders — lodged against the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act was its similarity to the failed Graham-Cassidy Bill, which sought to roll back many of the provisions of the Affordable Care Act, including the individual mandate.

The members, who spoke on a conference call Friday, expressed significant concern with the partial Affordable Care Act repeal, which eliminates the tax imposed by the act's mandate that all Americans have health insurance.

WASHINGTON – Sen. Lamar Alexander said Wednesday he supports the Senate GOP's taxreform bill and has no problem with it including a provision to repeal the Affordable Care Act's mandate that everyone buy health insurance.

Tying repeal of the so-called individual mandate to the tax-reform measure could cost Alexander Democratic support for a separate bipartisan bill that he negotiated with Democratic Sen. Patty Murray to stabilize Obamacare's individual health insurance markets in the short term.

The biggest losers from the GOP tax plans now before Congress would be the 87 million middleclass families facing higher taxes, plus the 13 million people who would lose their healthcare. The biggest winners? Millionaires and corporations, of course.

Chief among those corporations: America's top drug makers. Pharmaceutical firms will get tens of billions of dollars in tax cuts on their offshore profits alone, while continuing to gouge consumers with ever-higher prices.

By Tim Cook November 22, 2017

Billed as a Candlelight Protest Rally, the event was a protest against the GOP plan to overhaul the federal tax code for the first time in three decades. For the various proponents of the tax reform bill, including the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce, it would stimulate the economy and create jobs. For opponents of the same bill, such as the West Virginia Center for Budget and Policy and the West Virginia Council of Churches, it would give tax cuts to corporations and the wealthiest individuals that would widen the income gap. "This bill makes no sense," Stewart Acuff, a Martinsburg resident and a retired labor organizer with the AFL-CIO, said. "It only serves to take more and more and more from us and give it to fewer and fewer people. This is not less than a fight to save democracy in America."

Charleston Gazette-Mail: Advocates worried health programs will pay for tax cuts

By Erin Beck November 21, 2017

Several advocacy groups said Tuesday they worried a Republican plan to alter the country's tax code and cut taxes for corporations would be paid for by cutting health care programs heavily relied upon in West Virginia. The West Virginia Center on Budget and Policy, West Virginia Citizen Action Group and West Virginians for Affordable Health Care — all left-leaning groups — and others held a news conference Tuesday morning at Covenant House in Charleston. "That means we're either going to grow our deficit or we're going to force spending cuts to vital investments like health care, education and job training," said Caitlin Cook, spokeswoman for the West Virginia Center on Budget and Policy. "These tax cuts are not paid for up front. That means low- and middle-income Americans are going to be footing the bill for the permanent changes to the corporate tax code. "West Virginia's Congressional delegation should be working to advance tax policies that actually invest in our working families while ensuring that tax cuts are paid for by closing loopholes and other responsible measures," Cook said.

Among the participating groups: the AFT West Virginia, the NAACP, the AFL-CIO, the West Virginia Council of Churches and the West Virginia Center on Budget and Policy. Caitlin Cook with the WVCBP said there will need to be forced spending cuts to health care, education and job training to make up for the loss. The wealthiest five percent of tax payers will get 50 percent of the tax cut in 2019, Cook said. She said the benefits for the rich and big corporations will grow over time under both House and Senate versions.

FOX6Now (Milwaukee, WI): Speaker Ryan marches GOP tax bill toward Thursday vote, but Milwaukee realtors aren't sold

By Theo Keith November 15, 2017

Opposition to Republican bills that overhaul the U.S. tax code came from Milwaukee realtors and local activists on Wednesday, November 15th, one day before Speaker Paul Ryan scheduled a vote on the House floor.

Separately Wednesday, activists with Citizen Action of Wisconsin gathered in Oak Creek to protest the tax cuts' impact on the federal budget. They speculated that the cuts would trigger mandatory spending cuts, which could affect Medicare.

The Capital Times: Column: Republican tax bills would be paradise for plutocrats

Frank Clemente, executive director of Americans for Tax Fairness, has sensibly called on Congress to investigate before it legislates. Reform should start by exposing the various scams and dodges, rousing public ire to counter the lobbying weight of big business. Legislation could focus on shutting down the loopholes and cracking down on tax havens abroad. The first step would be to end "deferral" of taxes on profits reported abroad.

The Oshkosh Northwestern: What Donald Trump is not telling you about his tax overhaul plan: Some will pay more taxes

By Herb Jackson October 11, 2017 Syndicated from USA Today

If Congress relies on a projected surge of economic growth to pay for tax cuts and that surge does not happen, Congress will look for places to cut spending when deficits start to grow in the future, said Frank Clemente, director of the liberal group Americans for Tax Fairness. "The reality is, the way the Republicans structured their plans, people at $50,000 a year are going to get maybe a buck a day, not enough to by a cup of coffee," Clemente said. "Is it worth getting that extra money if ... it's going to jeopardize retirement security, health care, help to send their kids to college, the roads and bridges everybody agrees we need?"

THE biggest losers from the GOP tax plans would be the 87 million middle class families facing higher taxes, plus the 13 million people who would lose their healthcare. The biggest winners? Millionaires and corporations, of course.

Chief among those corporations: America's top drug makers. Pharmaceutical firms will get tens of billions of dollars in tax cuts on their offshore profits alone, while continuing to gouge consumers with ever-higher prices.

Fnews.me: The 15 richest families could reap $300 billion from Republican tax cuts

December 8, 2017 Syndicated from Daily Kos

Mother Jones spoke with Americans for Tax Fairness, an advocacy group focused on progressive tax reform, about how these changes to the estate tax will benefit the ultrawealthy, specifically the top 15 richest Americans, as ranked and reported by Forbes. If the exemptions are doubled, each estate would save $4.4 million for a couple, or $2.2 million for a single person. And if the tax is repealed, that's where things get interesting: According to numbers crunched by Americans for Tax Fairness, in that scenario, the people who inherit money from this tiny group of people could potentially save more than a whopping $300 billion combined. And the families of GOP-megadonors Charles and David Koch could collectively save nearly $39 billion, while the heirs of Republican kingmaker and moneyman Sheldon Adelson could be looking at $14 billion.

Or there's the fact that Trump's plan would create a so-called pass-through tax cut for business income that is currently taxed at the business owners' individual income tax rates rather than the corporate rate. Under Trump's plan, the tax rate for this wealth would drop to 15 percent. (Americans for Tax Fairness notes that Trump himself has some 500 pass-through arrangements.)

Daily Times: America reaps few benefits from Trump's tax-cut proposal (Pakistan)

By Christopher Walden May 8, 2017

"Yesterday, we learned President Trump wants to slash the corporate tax rate, even though corporations already dodge most of their tax responsibilities while making record profits," Frank Clemente, executive director of the liberal Americans for Tax Fairness, told the New York Times.

"Today, we find out it's even worse. In trying to slash taxes for 'pass through' business entities, Trump is seeking to dramatically reduce his own tax bill." The idea advanced by Trump that the tax rate for all small proprietorships should fall to 15 percent caught some observers by surprise. Such small businesses where the individual pays taxes on business profits on their individual taxes are treated as pass throughs for state and federal tax purposes, but also include many professionals and financial firms-including real estate developers.
